Recommendations

"Goksel is a highly creative and fast front-end developer. While working with us on Betterfly.com, his passion about his work made him work late hours and weekends to meet deadlines with no complaints, making him a valuable member of our team. He has a great personality and I look forward to working with him on future projects."

Emily Pugh, Interactive Producer, Betterfly

"I worked with Goksel over about a 6 months's time on web development, and he's fantastic to work with. He's an ace developer with a unique skill set that spans extensive front-end to back-end development. I worked with him on several projects and i can say that he is a great developer to add to any team." February 2, 2010
